Your core responsibility will be the end-to-end design and development of a responsive, scalable, and secure website for Kitchen Style. This includes front-end and back-end development, UI/UX integration, database connectivity, and performance optimization. You will gain hands-on experience with modern technologies, frameworks, and version control practices used in professional web development environments.

We expect you to:

- Utilize frameworks such as Bootstrap, and optionally ReactJS or Angular
- Integrate back-end functionalities using Node.js, PHP, or Python, along with MySQL or MongoDB
- Ensure cross-browser compatibility and adhere to SEO and accessibility standards
- Deploy the website and manage revisions using Git and GitHub

This role will not only sharpen your technical skills but also provide exposure to project documentation, client feedback loops, and QA testing.
